I think that we've decided:

to go for Curry and Naans - 75 portions at a cost of £3.00 each - £225
to hold a raffle for Ashgate Hospice (prizes welcome)

Have we booked the hall from 6 - 11pm? Shall we perform from 7.00 until 10.30?

Thoughts needed on:
tickets - pricing/concessions
Publicity
Stewards

Will there be any choice of curry or will it all be veggie?

As to ticket price, how much is the hall and bar costing? Will we need a Temporary Event Licence at £21.00? How many tickets are we aiming to sell?

Not sure who booked the hall but Peter's timing sounds right. Did we charge £7 for April ceilidh? I think same price would work but an official concession price of £5 if that seems reasonable.

Email from Clare Gage:

CHATSWORTH ROAD FESTIVAL 5th-13th October 2013

Hi

I'm working with the Chatsworth Road Festival again this year and this time I'm the arts co-ordinator! I'm contacting you in the hope that you will be able to hold an event again this year. I know your ceilidhs are always popular and would be a great feature of the festival. The workshops last year were a great idea and I'd love it if there were some interactive activities again this year. Perhaps just focus on one workshop that's easy to attend and will be attractive to a range of skill levels.

It's still the case that all events will be organised by individuals and we as a committee will promote the festival and all the events included. My responsibility is to give a few people a nudge and hope that they take it upon themselves to organise an event. I hope you'll do this! Let me know if you need any support.

Best wishes,
Clare Gage

Have booked the St Thomas's church centre for 5th Oct. We will having the bar (run by St Thomas's) and we are now deciding on food - it could be pie and pea or a curry (depending on how much St Thomas's quote). The church was not available in the end. Put it in your diaries!

I am happy to be on committee for October ceilidh. Sounds like a good idea as advertising will already be done for us.

5 October: The story so far:

It has been suggested that we put on a ceilidh on 5 October at the start of the Chatsworth Road Festival. We have a band, a caller, and a possible venue (St Thomas's). It would be our gig: we would not receive a fee, we would (presumably) have to pay for the hall, and we would have to do the organising, the advertising (with help from the Chatsworth Road Festival, and the tickets. The hall holds 120 people (so we could sell up to 100 tickets) and costs between £15 and £17 per hour.

Do we want to do it?

I say yes, provided we have people who are willing to do the organising. Would the ceilidh committee do it?

I'd like to do the 5th October and would be happy to serve on an organising committee.

The original plan last year was to use the church as a larger space.

I thought the ceilidh committee was just for the ceilidh on 27th April - no reason why this same committee has to organise all future ceilidhs. I say 'yes' that we should do this October ceilidh. Is there any enthusiasm for another ceilidh before then? (there was talk of a Midsommer Murder night...). I thought that St Mary's hall was booked for the October thing so we do have a venue (unless we want to cancel that booking and find an alternative (bigger?) venue).

Cheers,
Patrick

Do you mean St Thomas's Hall? If we do the gig on October 5th it needs to be in the Chatsworth Road area because it's timed to coincide with the start of the Chatsworth Road Festival, and St Thomas's seems the obvious choice - whether the hall or the church.

I'd also like to do the 5th Oct and am willing to be on the committee.

We didn't sell 100 tickets for the Troyes troop because of the size of the venue. Good point by Peter G about using the main church.

We can do it. Let's go for it.

I also think that we should arrange a ceilidh for the 5th Oct - but I'll bow out of any organising committee as I'm anticipating not having much spare time available. Re use of the church; if we can get enough people this is a good idea - just remember that last time we wouldn't have been allowed to have food in the church - due to the potential for mess(though people were allowed to bring their own drinks I think). Someone will also need to check with Sally-Anne whether there are any church events going on that would restrict times for setting up etc. If we use the hall, then officially we probably also need to hire the bar (or have no drinks! People aren't usually allowed to bring their own drinks to the hall - the WaterAid ceilidh was a last minute exception to the rule. Again someone needs to check this with Sally-Anne; bar hire was £50 I think.
